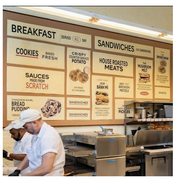
NYPD is Doubling Down on Quality of Life Issues

There's a new initiative that's reshaping how the NYPD responds to neighborhood issues. Q-Teams will be driven by quality of life concerns, based off of 311, to address chronic conditions and problems across the City. Learn more about this program, and how to get a response, here.

Welcome to NoHo, Counter Service

Craving a big, hearty sandwich? Yeah, us too. Thankfully, there's a great new place to get one in NoHo. Counter Service is now open on East 4th Street, slinging a nice selection sandwiches that are full of flavor. They're also serving breakfast all day long. Click here for more details about their new NoHo shop.



Now in the Neighborhood, The Re:Shop

There's a new home for upcycled and vintage clothing in NoHo. Welcome to the neighborhood, The Re:Shop! This family-owned store is centered around selling clothes that are good for the planet and your wardrobe alike. Read on here.

Experience Bob Dylan's Career in New Exhibition

NYU's Gallatin Galleries and the Bob Dylan Center have collaborated on a new exhibition highlighting the musicians' stories origins in New York City. Step inside to see never before seen interviews, archival footage, and more. Get more information here.

Keeping NoHo Clean

Did you know the BID works closely with DSNY to keep NoHo clean? Not only does our Clean Team manage corner cans and sweep the sidewalks, but we're also helping to lead the trash revolution in NYC! Over the past few years we've installed a number of containers to get bags off the corners of our neighborhood. Our partnership with DSNY has made NoHo a cleaner place to be.

NoHo Business Corner: Enjoy Curbside Restaurant Week at ATLA!

NYC's first ever Curbside Restaurant Week is happening now, and the weather couldn't be better for meeting up with friends for an outdoor meal. ATLA is one of more than 35 participating restaurants in the City, offering a free classic or mezcal margarita with the purchase of a guacamole! Time is running out, the special is only through this Friday, September 12th. Get more details here.

NoHo BID and SoHo Broadway Initiative Host Department of Small Business Services

BIDs work closely with the Department of Small Business Services, and last month, we had the chance to host this agency for a neighborhood walkthrough with our colleagues at the SoHo Broadway Initiative. We discussed neighborhood issues, retail trends, and what we see on the ground every day. Thanks for joining us, SBS! Looking for business support? Reach out to them!
