

January 12th, 2022

Welcome to 2022, Here's What You Need to Know to Start the Year Off Right

Eat Well in NoHo

Welcome to NoHo, Los Tacos No. 1

Casual Mexican destination and NYC favorite Los Tacos No. 1 is now serving up their beloved tacos, tostadas, and quesadillas in NoHo! Stop by 340 Lafayette Street to enjoy the affordable, flavorful cuisine that's made them a must-eat spot in the city. Get more information here.

Dine Out at your Favorite Spots During NYC Restaurant Week

After last year's abridged Restaurant Week To Go, this year, the real deal has returned! With special prix-fixe menus priced at $29, $39, and $59, this annual deal is back and bigger than ever, with all kinds of options! The NoHo Restaurant Week Guide breaks down all the deals, discounts, and more to make the most of the delicious offerings. Read it here.

Eat Better with Honeybrains' Cooking Classes

Many people aim to eat better every New Year, but it's often a difficult task. Honeybrains is here to help! They've put together a series of cooking classes to teach you how to cook healthy at home, taught in-person by their head chef. The first class is complimentary and will be held at their 55th Street location. Learn more and RSVP on their Instagram.

Meet Some New Faces

Introducing Your New 9th Precinct NCOs

The NYPD 9th Precinct is home to two new NCOs in Sector C. If you are on the East side of Broadway or further East, these are your NCOs. They are here to help address non-emergency safety issues, solve chronic problems, and serve as a resource for the community. Get their contact information here.

Get to Know Newly-Elected Councilmember Chris Marte

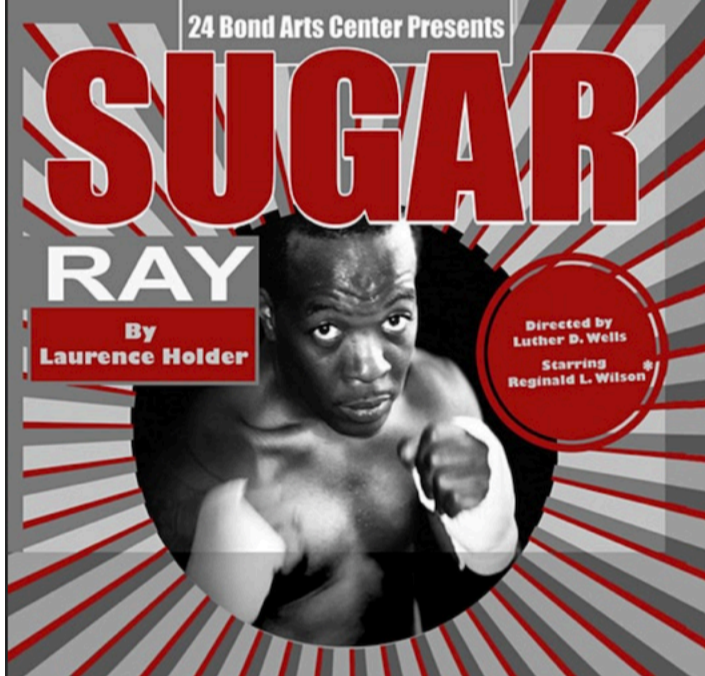

For the first time since 2009, Council District 1, which covers most of NoHo, has a new representative on City Council. We've made a little guide so you can get to know more about Councilmember Chris Marte and how to get in touch with his office. Read it here. If you're above 4th Street, you're in Council District 2, and Councilmember Carlina Rivera was elected to a second term.

A Conversation with New Borough President Mark Levine

Manhattan also has a new Borough President, Mark Levine. Fresh off of representing Upper Manhattan in City Council, he will now represent the whole borough Click here to read more. Additionally, tomorrow, January 13th at 9:00 AM, the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce is hosting a conversation with the newly-elected Borough President and what he plans to work on. RSVP here.

Enjoy NoHo's Cultural Offerings

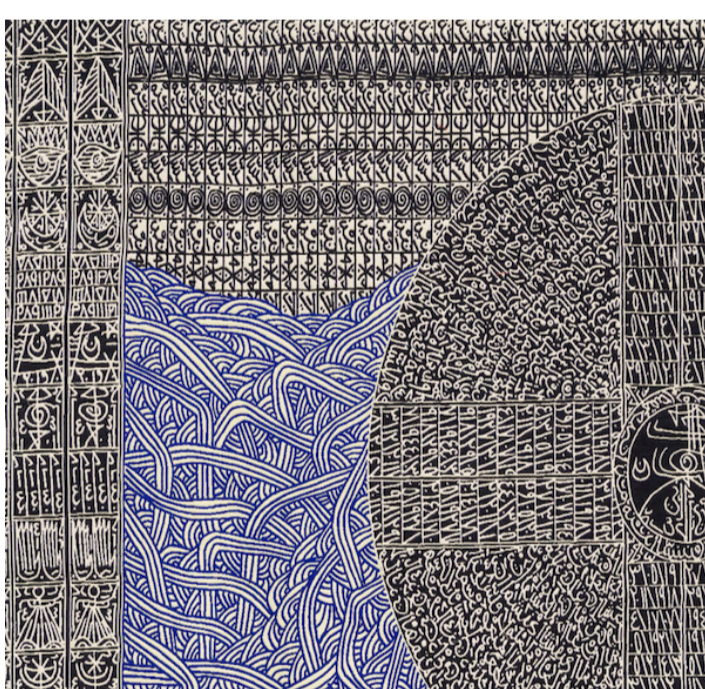

See Sugar Ray at the Gene Frankel Theatre

This new show, hosted at Bond Street's one-of-a-kind Gene Frankel Theatre. Performed by award-winning actor Reginald L. Wilson, this show tells the story of one of the greatest boxers to ever fight professionally, and the Theatre itself has been transformed into a boxing ring just for this show. Learn more here.

Get Two-for-One Tickets to Arcadia Earth

As part of the 2nd NYC Must-See Week, attractions all across the City are offering special two-for-one admission deals! NoHo's Arcadia Earth is taking part, so now's the time to finally see their incredible multi-sensory, exhibit on climate change that utilizes cutting-edge virtual reality technology to create amazing worlds. Get more info here.

Rachid Koraichi at Aicon Gallery

Le Chant de l'Ardent Désir, the third major U.S. solo exhibition of Algerian born artist Rachid Koraichi, will be on view at the beginning of February. His practice extends across a wide medium, and will turn the gallery into a shrine to the universality and beauty of art. Get more information and preview the show here.

On the Bowery at Zürcher Gallery

Curated by Loren Munk, this show at NoHo's Zürcher Gallery focuses itself on the chronology and geography of the Bowery and greater Lower East Side's arts. With a period of the '60s to present covered, this sprawling show is a love letter to the area's still-present creative community. Learn more here.

Get Involved in Your Community

Have an Idea? Participatory Budgeting is Here

New Councilmember Chris Marte is continuing District 1's Participatory Budgeting process! This is the community's chance to suggest, vote on, and fund local projects by and for the neighborhood. Examples include new crosswalks, street trees, and other 'small' projects that can make a big impact. Learn how to get involved here.

Community Board Applications are Open

Want to make a difference in the neighborhood you call home? Want to give back to those around you and be heard? Consider joining your local Community Board! Applications are now open through the Manhattan Borough President to appoint members to join this advisory committee for two year terms. Get more information and apply here.

Stay Safe in 2022

Where to Get Boosted

Current COVID Guidance

Where to Get Tested

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

RESOURCES

PROGRAMS & SERVICES

Follow Us

