

October 13th, 2021

Theater is Back in NoHo!

After a long, COVID hiatus, theater is really back in NoHo. We're so excited for all of our neighborhood's iconic performing arts venues to be back. Though things look a little different now, and vaccines will be required, it's still the same, amazing theater scene. Check out our Theater Guide here.

The NoHo Optical & Eyewear Guide

Over the last couple of years, NoHo has blossomed into a hotspot for high-quality, beloved optical and eyewear stores. From rare vintage frames to brand new concepts, and so much more, our guide is designed to help you find the perfect match for your eyes. Read the guide here.

Palo Primordial Pop-Up Gallery on Bond

If you haven't been yet, it's not too late to visit NoHo's temporary gallery on Bond Street. Palo Primordial is an exploration of what it means to be primal, the primitive core of humanity, and what civilization truly is. This pop-up gallery leaves the neighborhood soon, so visit soon. More information here.

Get Spooky with 'New York's Most Haunted Place'

The Merchant House Museum, New York's most haunted place, is hosting all kinds of eerie encounters and paranormal events this October. No matter what event, it's sure to scare. Click here to see their haunted happenings.

Love NoHo? Open Your Business Here

The pandemic is mostly over, and over 20 businesses have recently opened or plan to. You should join them! NoHo has a number of retail opportunities for businesses of all size and kind. Whether you're looking to test the waters in a small space, or want to expand your empire, the NoHo community is a great place to call home.

Check Opportunities Here

NoHo Image of the Month

New York StartUP Business Plan Competition Accepting Applications

Restaurant Return-to-Work Tax Credits Webinar from Manhattan Chamber

Q&A with Ann Down - Director of Mass at Angelika

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

RESOURCES

PROGRAMS & SERVICES

Follow Us

