Basquiat is Back in NoHo at Great Jones Distillery

NoHo's bourbon distillery is celebrating the heritage of Great Jones Street by bringing Basquiat back to the street he called home here in NoHo. Great Jones Distillery has been transformed into an 80s New York, Basquiat inspired one-of-a-kind venue for the next couple of months. Learn more about the collaboration here.

Meet Congressman Dan Goldman Tomorrow

Tomorrow, Thursday, August 17th, meet NoHo's Congressman, Dan Goldman, at Washington Square Park. This is your opportunity to meet the Congressman, share your ideas and priorities, get help with Federal issues, and more. He represents all of our neighborhood. For more information about this event, click here.

It's Not Too Late to Enjoy Restaurant Week

We're in the final days of NYC's beloved celebration of eating out, Restaurant Week! Some of your favorite NoHo spots are offering special meal deals for lunch, brunch, and dinner. To read our roundup of participating restaurants in NoHo, check out our 2023 Restaurant Guide here.

Remembering the Grand Central Hotel 50 Years Later

This August marks the 50th anniversary of the shocking collapse of the legendary Grand Central Hotel, which once called Broadway and Great Jones home. In a few decades it declined from its status as America's grandest hotel to literally falling onto Broadway. Read more about its history here.
